

i3S – Institute for Research and Innovation in Health, University of Porto, in collaboration with the President of the international organization The Doctor as a Humanist (Jonathan McFarland), is holding the “Humanism in Surgery” Symposium on 19th, 20th and 21st May 2022, in hybrid format (presential at the Institute of Research and Innovation in Health (i3S-UP), Porto, Portugal and online).

The last day of the symposium – 21st May – will be dedicated to The European Narrative Medicine Society – EUNAMES – with the special presence of its president (Maria Giulia Marini). There will be a plenary session, a roundtable and talks by some of the most influential members of the society.

NARRATIVE MEDICINE AND MEDICAL HUMANITIES WITH EUNAMES, May 21st, 2022:

9:00-9.20: Plenary – EUNAMES (European Narrative Medicine Society): state of the art of the medical humanities and narrative medicine in practice in Europe.

Maria Giulia Marini, ISTUD, University La Sapienza Rome.

9:20-9.45: What Europe asks from Health Humanities.

Niels Fietje, WHO Europe.

9:45-10.45: Roundtable: A European Map of Narrative Medicine.

Moderator: Susana Magalhães;

With: Anna Batistatou (University of Ioannina, Greece), Isabel Fernandes (FLUL), Muiris Houston (University of Galway, Ireland), Gerard Reach (University Sorbonne, France), Jonathan Mc Farland (University of Madrid), Ourania Varsaou (University of Glasgow, UK), Neil Vickers (Kings College London), Nicoletta Suter (SIMEN), and other EUNAMES participants...

10:45-11:00: Coffee break

11.00-11.15: The lost art of medicine.

June Boyce-Tillmann, University of Winchester.

11.15-11.30: Why an interplay on narrative practice among Europe.

John Launer, honorary lifetime consultant at Tavistock, UK.

11.30-11.45: Closing remarks.

with Jonathan Mc Farland and Maria Giulia Marini.